1. The short version

WHAT WE DO NOT DO

Acarise sets no advertising cookies, no marketing cookies and no third-party tracking cookies. We run no advertising network, we do not build profiles of visitors, and we do not share browsing data with anyone for their own purposes. Our page analytics use no cookies at all.

What is left is small: the cookies that keep you signed in, and one browser entry that remembers you have seen our cookie notice.

This policy sits alongside our Privacy Policy, which covers personal data more broadly.

2. What a cookie is

A cookie is a small file a website asks your browser to keep, and sends back to the site on your next request. Sites use them to recognise a returning browser — which is how a site remembers you are signed in between one page and the next.

Related technologies do a similar job. Local storage keeps a value in your browser but, unlike a cookie, never travels to the server. We use one, and it is listed below for completeness even though it is not strictly a cookie.

3. The public website acarise.com sets no cookies. You can read every page of it without one being stored.

WHAT THE WEBSITE STORES

Name	Type	Purpose	Lasts
acarise:cookie-notice	Local storage	Remembers that you dismissed the cookie notice, so it does not reappear on every page.	Until you clear your browser data

This value never leaves your browser and tells us nothing about you. We cannot read it.

4. The Acarise app

Signing in requires cookies. They are strictly necessary: without them the platform cannot tell one signed-in user from another, and it would not work at all.

COOKIES IN THE APP

Name	Set by	Purpose	Lasts
<code>sb-...-auth-token</code>	Supabase, our authentication and database provider	Holds your session so you stay signed in as you move between pages, and so the server knows which account is making a request.	The length of your session, refreshed while you stay active

The exact names carry an identifier for our Supabase project, which is why they are shown with an ellipsis above. They contain your session token. Treat them as you would a password: do not copy them out of your browser or share them.

NO CONSENT BANNER IN THE APP

Strictly necessary cookies do not require consent under the Privacy and Electronic Communications Regulations, because without them the service you asked for cannot be provided. Since the app sets nothing else, there is nothing to ask you about.

5. Analytics

We count page views using Vercel Web Analytics, so we can see which pages are used. It is cookieless: it sets nothing in your browser, does not follow you between sites, and does not build a profile of you. We see aggregate counts, not individuals.

6. Managing cookies

Every browser lets you see the cookies a site has set, delete them, and block new ones. The controls are usually under Settings, then Privacy.

ONE CONSEQUENCE

If you block cookies for acarise.com you will not be able to sign in to the app, because the sign-in cookie is what keeps you signed in. The public website will work normally.

Clearing your browser data also clears the local storage entry described in section 3, so the cookie notice will appear again on your next visit.

7. Changes to this policy

If we start using a cookie that is not listed here, we will update this policy before we do, raise the version number, and — where the law requires consent — ask you first.

Questions go to contact@acarise.com.
